SGT. JACK D. LOFTIN IS MISSING IN ACTION

Sgt. Jack D. Loftin, gunner, B-17 Boeing flying fortress bomber, U. S. Army Air Corps, is missing in action over Germany, according to a war department telegram received at noon Thursday by his mother, Mrs. Jess Barrett and the former Mrs. Claude Loftin.

Adjutant General Ulio of the Army said that Sgt. Loftin was missing since February 22. No additional details were given but as soon as available will be communicated to the family.

Sgt. Loftin will be 20 years old in July. He is a brother of Mrs. Ben Kennon and has two brothers in service, all volunteers. They are Cpl. W. W. Loftin with General Patton's Third Army in Germany and C. C. Loftin, MM 1C, Seabees, U. S. Navy, in the Phillipines.

Sgt. Loftin was born in Cameron but reared in the Buckholts community.

Sgt. Loftin when he volunteered for the Air Corps was graduated a gunner from the school at Buckhingham Fort Meyers in Florida. He had been in service 8 months when he was qualified for duty with a bomber crew. He also completed armament school at Lowry Field, Colorado.

The last letter received here from Sgt. Loftin was dated February 16 from France. In the early stages of his service his group was based in England. As the Allied armies advanced bases were established behind the lines in France.

Yarrellton Reports On Red Cross Drive

Yarrellton has a quota of $150 and has raised $107.65. The workers which include, Jim Mann, Mrs. C. E. Russell, Mrs. A. E. Bryant and Mrs. Rodney Baker have done a good job and worked hard. Some of the territory had not been worked at the time of this report and the committee was confident that the quota would be over-subscribed before the end of the week. If you live in this territory and have not been contacted, or if you can give more, contact one of these workers and help to raise Yarrellton's quota.

CITY IS LOOKING FOR NEW QUARTERS HERE

Due to a rent hike of $25 per month the City is looking for new quarters. At the meeting on Tuesday night Mayor Smith was authorized to request use of the old grammar School building and accordingly the school board has been petitioned for its use.

Mayor Smith said the Council wants to use the building until such time as permanent quarters can be arranged. The letter to the school board requested use and control of the building. The board declined to grant the request but it was under stood was not opposed to permiting the city to use a portion of the building on a lease basis.

The property belongs to the school system and under the terms of the leeds to the property it cannot be disposed of by the school and must be used for school purposes. At present the building is under supervision of the Business and Professional Women's Club and also houses the Farm Security Administration. These occupants would have to vacate if the property is given over to the city for use.

Many citizens have long desired the cty to build and own its own home. Currently the matter of a new building is under consideration. It has been expertly estimated that the old grammar school could not be converted to municipal use to meet current needs for less than about $35,000.

The Cameron Planning Board has plans and estimates on a new building which would cost around $60,000.

The city is paying $75 per month for present quarters. The land lord is now asking $100 per month. On 30 year basis the current rental paid would mean a principal sum of $27,000 and if the increase is paid it would be a principal of $36,000.

Kite Flyers Warned To Stay Away From Electric Power Lines

With the coming March winds, youngsters are beginning to answer the call of kite-flying season.

"In wartime, such as the present, it is patrioctic, as well as wise, for kite-flying to observe the rules of safety," said J. Albert Young, Jr., district manager of Texas Power & Light Company.

Chief among these is to fly kites in open spaces where there are no electric power lines. Kites which fall across, or become entangled in power lines, endanger the continuity of electric service to industries which may be engaged in production of vital materials needed in the war effort.

Another precuation is to use no kite string is also a conductor of with wire in it. since metal is a conductor of electricity.

Flying kites in the rain is also considered hazardous since a wet kithe string is alo a conductor of electricity.

As a fourth precaution, it is urged that kite-flyers not attempt to disentangle any kite that should fall in an electric line, but call the electric service comany, which will send a trained man out to remove the kite.

Cookies for McCloskey; Other Items Needed

Mrs. F. C. Fahrendorf, Chairman of Camp and Hospital Council has been given a list of articles which are needed for the sick and wounded at McCloskey Hospital. The following are small and inepensive: 12 cake plates, twelve inches wide, pastel glass or china, 6 luncheon cloths 48x48, 500 coat hangers, 12 cake servers, 50 small, low vases for bedside tables and birthray gift ribbons, paper, string and seals, (preferably Easter Seal for crippled children.)

Won't you please search your clostes, pantrys, etc., and help to get these few items together to they can be delivered Saturday evening along with the cookies which are being prepared by Burlington, Ben Arnold, and Vogelsang communities this week. It was discouraging and very disappointing last week when the Cookies were not prepared, and the few people who can always be depended on, had to be called on at the last minute to prepare them. It is quite a job for a few of our ladies to have to spend a night making cookies (so the boys woudn't be disappointed) just because we didn't do our part and help.

Three of the churches will prepare the cookies next week. They are the two Churches of Christ, the Tabernacle Church, and the Spiritulist Church. Please leave your cookies at the New Cameron Drug Company or at the Red Cross room.

PEOPLE PETITION COURT FOR ROAD DESIGNATION

The Commissioners' Court received its first request for a farm to market road designation in Milam county Thursday in the form of voluminous petition from the people who reside on Rural Route one out of Cameron.

This territory is in Commissioner Precinct 1 and covers the Marak community and portions of other communities.

Chas. Naborus, carrier in Ruote 1 has done a great deal of work and the response to the petition has been unanimous. He recently visited the office of the State Highway Department in Bryan and was told by the District Engineer that the State Highway Department will not only build the road but will maintain it.

Thus far the Commissioners' Court has made no designations. It was hopeful the court would respond to the appeal from Marak where road conditions are needing attention.

J. R. Hays, Postmaster, appeared with Mr. Nabours in behalf of the people who receive mail on this route.

All Commissioner Precincts in the county are needing designations for farm to market roads. The Federal Government has allocated 20 million dollars to Texas.

Milam county is the only county in the Bryan District that has not filed a designation.

The road runs from Yarrellton to Splawn and the improvements sought will benefit Yarrellton, North Elm and Splawn communities.

COURT IS FAVORABLE ON ROAD DESIGNATION

The Commissioners' Court at 10 a. m. Thursday voted favorably on the petition submitted by Chas. Nabours and J. R. Hays asking for a designation on a road from Yarrellton to Splawn.

Judge Jeff T. Kemp will lead a delegation to the Highway Department on March 26 and will be accompanied by W. E. Kuzel, Commissioner for Precinct 1 and Mr. Hays and others.

It was hoped a delegation can go from Yarrellton and Marak and North Elm.

The road runs from Yarrellton to Splawn, an important mail and school bus route as well as farm to market.

PLANNING BOARD GETS TWO INDORSEMENTS

Cameron Planning Board named by Mayor Chas. C. Smith in 1944, was given two indorsements this week, one from the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday night and one by the Rotary Club on Wednesday.

The indorsements came spontaneously after Dr. Clifford Swift made a talk on the board's work.

Mayor Smith pledged the people a planning board if elected, in the primary in 1944. The board has done a great deal of work but is far from concluding its report.

Currently two proposed buildings are being discussed, however the board has other and perhaps more important plans. The city will be 100 years old next year and still has no home. What a pity!

March of Dimes Cash Received Here; Given At County Theatres

John Prude, manager of the Cameron Theatre and Chairman for the motion picture industry's "March of Dimes" campaign in Cameron, announced today that he had received a headquarters in Dallas, representing check for $206,93 from the state 50 percent of the total "March of Dimes" collected in Cameron and Rockdale theatres, which will be used by the local chapter of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Mr. Prude said this was in keeping with the policy of the National Foundation to return 50 percent of all local collections to the county in which they were made to carry on the fight against the dread polio. The other half of the collection has been forwarded to the National Foundation for education and research and to carry on the fight against this human blight on a national basis.

He further stated that the theatremen of Texas were grateful to their movie patrons for contributing so generously to this worthy and human cause.

MIDNIGHT CURFEW LAW COMPLIANCE IS ASKED

Places of entertainment affected by the midnight curfew order in Cameron are expected to comply 100 per cent, Darrell Harding, area War Manpower Commission director, said today.

"The national trend has already been one of full compliance and I am sure that operators of establishments n Cameron will follow suit", he said.

The order applies to night clubs, sport arenas, theaters, dance halls, roadhouses, saloons, bars, shooting galleries, bowling, billiard and pool establishments, amusement parks, amusement device parlors, ice skating and roller skating rinks, entertainment activity of the yacht, country and other clubs, dance studios and chools, and gambling establishments.

Restaurants customarily open all night for the purpose of serving food are not affected by the curfew insofar as serving food is concerned. Entertainment supplied for military personnel, especially in ports of embarkation which is sponsored by responsible agencies, conducted on a non-profit basis after the approval of the military authorities, and in camps and stations may be exempted from the curfew order. No exemptions of any other character may be made.

All government agencies are required under the order to cooperate with the War Manpower Commission, Harding said. This would mean that in cases of non-compliance, OPA could cut off food supplies, WPB could cut off fuel and power, ODT could cut off gasoline and tires. It might be further added that any firm contributing to non-compliance of this order, such as taxicabs, similar penalties would be invoked in those cases.

R. C. Moody, manager of the local U. S. Employment Service located in Temple, has effected a concurrence with the chief of police, Dan Lunsford, for establishments located in Cameron and with the sheriff, Carl C. Black, outside the city limits. Anyone seeking additional information regarding this curfew may contact Mr. Moody at the U. S. Employment Service located at 6 West Adams Avenue, Temple, telephone 2388.

River Hub, Strasbourg, Noted for Goose Livers

A city of 193,000 people before the war, combining French and German influences, Strasbourg is a rail center on the French side of the Rhine. It lies at the head of navigation on that great river highway. The city is at the Rhine end of the Rhine-Rhone canal. Crossing the Rhine, highways from Strasbourg run north to Karlsruh and the northern Rhineland, south to Freiburg, and east through the Black forest to Stuttgart and Nurnberg.

The Rhine is a first-class trade artery only to Mannheim, but is navigable to Strasbourg. A million and a half tons of shipping were landed annually at Strasbourg's Rhine river port in prewar years, mostly from barges towed up the river.

Strasbourg is noted for its cathedral, with a rose window 50 feet in diameter; for its university, where Goethe studied; and for its pate de foie gras (goose-livers). The goose is the "national bird" of Strasbourg, represented in china replicas in many shop windows. The preparation of pate de foie gras dates from 1762, when the delicacy was devised by one Close, cook to the Marechal de Conde, then residing in Strasbourg. This product later made its way to most civilized countries, the annual output exceeding a half million dollars in value.

Winter Feeding

Shortages of protein, discomfort from cold and dampness, shortage of drinking water, shortages of minerals and lack of proper vitamins in the diet are some of the things which must be considered in proper feeding and management to prevent poor livestock production during the winter months.

Food Dollar

Here is a recommendation of home economists on how the food dollar should be spent to get the most value: Spend 20 cents for milk and milk products, 30 cents or more for fruits and vegetables, 25 cents or less for meats, poultry and fish, 15 cents or less for bread and cereals, and 10 cents or less for fats such as butter and salad oil, and for sweets.

It is important to note that almost half of the food dollar is spent for milk and meat products. They are the protein foods which build the bodies of children and repair those of grown-ups. They also help to build steady nerves, strong muscles, rich red blood and healthy skin and eyes, as well as strong bones and teeth.

The test of a good pilot of kites is in the way he sticks to the rules of "Safety"... one of which is not to fly kites near electric service lines. This not only keeps kite-flying a safe sport, but also helps prevent unnecessary interruptions in electric power service.

In flying your kite, be the "guy with the Medals" and fly it safely... always remember to observe these safety rules:

1. Fly your kite in open spaces... free from electric service lines.
2. Do not use metal or wire in your kite or kite strings.
3. If your kite should get tangled in electric wires, do not climb the pole or try to get the kite loose with a pole or stick. Call your electric service company!

Committee Named For Easter Seal Sale

Announcement that Mrs. Grady Stidham, Cameron, had accepted the chairmanship of the annual Easter seal sale for Milam County was made today by Mrs. Carl Black, president of the Milam County Child Welfare Board.

The Easter seal sale, which is put on annually to finance the program of the organization, is sponsored nationally by the National Society for Crippled Children every year during the month preceding Easter.

In accepting the chairmanship, Mrs. Stidham stressed the importance of intensifying the efforts of voluntary organizations in the field of social welfare.

Others on the committee who will aid in the national seal sale are Mrs. T. E. Johnson, Corresponding Secretary, Cameron; Mrs. C. M. Sessions, Vice-President, Rockdale, Mrs. John T. Hale, Recording Secretary, Rockdale.

"The program of correcting the physical defects of handicapped youth fits admirably well into the over-all plans for improving America's physical fitness," Mr. Stidham said. "We can all do our part to support this splendid movement by buying Easter seals and using them on our stationery."

Certainly one of the most novel pictures ever to have been turned out of Hollywood, Paramount's "The Hitler Gang" promises an unusual and extremely pleasant evening at the theatre. It appears well on its way toward becoming one of those pictures of the century—one which will be talked about long after its showings. Certainly, it is becoming a first on the "must see" list of every moviegoer in the country.

Roasting Fowl

The temperature at which fowl should be roasted depends upon its size. As the weight of the bird increases, the temperature should be lowered and the length of time for roasting or baking increased.

Chicken and duck are best roasted at 350 degrees F., while 325 degrees F. is recommended for goose and for six- to nine-pound turkeys. The time required for roasting will range from an hour and a half or two hours for a four- to five-pound chicken cooked at 350 degrees F., to eight or nine hours for a twenty-four- to thirty-pound turkey roasted at 250 degrees F. No lower temperature than 250 degrees F. is recommended.

When the fowl is done, the flesh will be slightly shrunken under the skin, and the bird will give or bend slightly when picked up by the end. The thick portion of the flesh of the breast and thigh of a well-done bird will be tender and will not show pink juice when speared carefully with a skewer or a fork.

Ben Thweatt became ill here Saturday in his cafe and was taken to Newton Memorial Hospital for treatment. He was reported resting well and hopes to be back at his post of duty in a day or two.

F. J. Hanel, expert machinist, who has been employed in some of the great war plants at Houston, has returned to the Cameron Machine Shop and Cameron has gained much through his return.

It was through Mr. Hanel's genius as a machinist that the linotype at The Herald plant was restored in time to resume operations Monday.

The Herald and many other business concerns here have been served indispensibly by the Cameron Machin Shop and its personnel of experts.

We state the unamimous opinion of all the people that Cameron Machine Shop is one of our best utilities and without its facilities the community would find it difficult to survive where supplies, repairs and manufacture of parts are necessary.

Vitamin B

In their raw or original state most plant and animal foods contain some of the B vitamins, but only a few foods contain very much. Some foods are relatively rich in one B, some in another. For special mention there are lean pork, liver and kidney and other meat organs, whole grains, dried beans and peas, soybeans and nuts — particularly peanuts. Other foods that supply B vitamins include lean meats, eggs, milk, vegetables and fruits. Under the government's enrichment program synthetic riboflavin, thiamine, niacin and iron are added to bread.

50,000 GERMANS ARE IN EAST RHINE TRAP

The fate of 50 thousand German troops was being rapidly sealed west of the Rhine in the area of Coblenz Thursday when General George Patton's 3rd army and General Courtney Hodges 1st army, closed in after spectacular gains overnight.

General Patton who now is revealed to have plunged into the ice caked Sure river to swim across and back to inspire his men, was closing in on Coblenz. His army had reached the outskirts of the city. A news blackout was ordered over his operations.

All seven Allied armies under Eisenhower have reached the Rhine. German troops are on the west bank of the Rhine at only three places today.

The Red army was in 29 miles of Berlin, said the German broadcast.

In the battle for Iwo the Marines were concentrating for the final effort to kill the remaining Japs.

The Japanese Diet will meet Friday.

Potato Storage

The home garden potato crop may be kept in any number of ways, such as a windowed corner of the basement partitioned off for temperature regulation and darkened, a garage, a closet or unheated room in the house, or in a partly buried barrel covered over with straw or leaves and soil. Boxes and barrels are better than baskets for stored potatoes, since they help to keep down shriveling and protect them better against light, which causes green spots.

Inquiry Discloses No News Frank Newton Held German Prisoner

It has been disclosed here by Mrs. W. R. Newton, Sr., mother of Lt. Frank M. Newton, that his whereabouts are still unknown following an inquiry institued by Representative Henry G. Lehman from Austin.

Mr. Lehman asked Congressman Lyndon Johnson to make an inquiry since the Red Army had liberated the area in which Lt. Newton was held a German prisoner.

Congressman Johnson has telegraphed Mr. Lehman that Lt. Newton's name does not appear on the lists of men liberated by the Russians and regrets the news is not more favorable.

Mrs. Newton did not know of the inquiry but received a copy of the message from Mr. Lehman.

Lt. Newton was piloting a B-24 Liberator bomber, the "San Antonio Rose," on a combat mission in the Meditteranean in 1943 when he was shot down. He is believed to have been the only member of the crew to survive. Other pilots said they observed his ship going down to a perfect landing in the water and under control and a small vessel making its way to the ship. Lt. Newton, it was subsequently learned was rescued by an enemy crew aboard the vessel and taken to Germany a prisoner. The family here here have communicated with him regularly.

Mr .and Mrs. J. F. McCrory, of Hubbard City, Mrs. Jaunita Lyons, of Camp Hood, spent the week end here, and were guests of Mrs. Dow Eplen; and visited their sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stafford both of whom are patients in the Newton Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Charles C. Smith, Jr. and daughter, of Fort Worth, are here on a visit with her mother, Mrs. Dick Batte and grandfather, C. F. Spiller.

Top with crushed vanilla wafers and place in refrigerator until ready to serve. To add extra color, use lemon, orange, raspberry or strawberry gelatin dessert; mix and place the colors in alternate layers in the serving dish before the dessert is placed in the refrigerator for final jelling.

To enjoy the full delicate flavor of the gelatin dessert, be sure to use Daricraft, the evaporated milk with the improved flavor. Keep several cans of Daricraft Evaporated Milk always on hand to give your family more nourishing, more enjoyable meals. Clever little shamrock-shaped cookies, made with the "club" design from a playing-card cookie cutter set, and topped with green-tinted icing will add extra appeal to this St. Patrick's Day delight.

Hitler wants to make peace with Russia first and some diplomats believed this was a bargaining to split the Allies. It was said no attempt had been made to contact American diplomats.

The Herald believes such a move is on and that developments indicate the Germans are desperate and when all efforts at a negotiated peace are exhausted they will surrender.

Unruly Kids May Be Just Hungry

Educators Find Out What Makes American Child 'Act That Way.'

CHICAGO. — The youngster who throws spitballs in school, scrawls bad words on the walls or biffs other kids on the nose more likely than not is hungry, or tired out, or unloved.

It doesn't follow, says Dr. Daniel A. Prescott, that he's just plain ornery, or incorrigible, or dumb. Dr. Prescott of the University of Chicago's colla[illegible]n center on human develop[illegible] and education, is one of a gro[illegible] educators devoted to finding ou[illegible]t makes the American child tic[illegible].

It's important, he said, that teachers see a child's present actions as based on his past experiences, shaped by his present circumstances and influenced by his desires and hopes for the future.

Dr. Prescott reported recently on the work of a special division set up several years ago at the University of Chicago by the commission on teacher education to put together material gleaned over the last 15 years by scientific groups which had been studying individual aspects of child development and behavior.

Commission Findings.

Representatives from 20 colleges and universities and 14 groups of school systems were sent to Chicago to do this job. What Dr. Prescott said was an advance view of the commission's findings, to be published soon.

"We believe that the task that lies ahead is primarily one of training teachers to make sound judgments about children," he said.

Findings of the group include the following:

1. Children are often expected or required to learn things they are not ready to learn, or that they can't see any reason for learning. Children's interests and tasks should be related to maturity more closely than to chronological age.

The reason, Dr. Prescott explained, that two-thirds of those failing to learn to read in the first grade are boys is that it takes boys longer to grow from birth to maturity than girls. Girls at the age of 6 are where boys are at 7 and more likely to be ready for reading.

2. Children often are expected, or even required, to behave in ways unreasonable to expect in view of their development, family background or physical condition.

Some Teachers Blamed.

3. Many teachers often do not fully accept and respect each child as a person and often actually dislike or neglect certain youngsters. Many teachers make no attempt to see that the child is liked by others, or belongs to a group. Thus some children for years may remain lonely or rejected in a class group.

4. The behavior of a child often is not evaluated in terms of the factors that caused it, and is controlled by means that humiliate him before his classmates (such as standing in a corner), demean him in his own eyes, repress valuable interest and curiosity or develop a sense of being unfairly treated.

5. Problems with which children may be struggling often aren't noticed. Children with chronic infection, or correctible physical handicaps, with limited mental abilities, severe emotional maladjustments or personality problems are not given proper attention.

Nazis Roll Bomb Like Bowling Ball at Yanks

WITH THE SEVENTH ARMY IN SOUTH FRANCE. — The Germans should know by this time that they can't knock the Seventh army down like tenpins but—

On the Nice front they tried a weapon which consisted of a teller mine with a time fuse inside a round, oversized wooden casing that resembled a bowling ball.

On several occasions they tried rolling these balls down on the well-paved, smooth mountain roads towards the advancing Americans. On each occasion the balls bounced harmlessly into the shrubbery.

Set 'em up in the other alley, Adolf.

Quinine Substitute Is Praised by Army Medics

WASHINGTON.—The army medical department has come out flatly and rated atabrine, the war-developed substitute for quinine, as "even better" than quinine in the suppression and treatment of malaria.

It was the army's first unqualified statement with respect to the effectiveness of the synthetic drug. It came into wide use in the armed forces after Japanese conquests in the Dutch East Indies had cut off most of our quinine supply.

Some 6,000 Alien Sailors Have Deserted in U. S.

WASHINGTON, D. C. — About 6,000 alien merchant seamen have deserted their ships in United States ports since the beginning of the war and now are being rounded up by the immigration and naturalization service.

Those who are found, the war shipping administration said recently, will be given the choice of returning to ships of their nationality or face deportation.

IWO CAMPAIGN ENDS AS U S FLAG RAISED

The fight on Iwo Jima has ended with 20 thousand Japs dead and the American flag flying over the island.

The United States Marines and the Navy have taken over the island and Admiral Nimitz has been designated by these branches of the service as governor.

Some few Japs are still hanging on.

Tokyo announced that their capital, Tokyo, Yokohoma and 3 other large cities will be evacuated.

The British fleet has steamed out from Australian waters and has gone into action against the Japs in the Philippine area.

With German resistance increasing the Western front was alive with preparation with equipment of all kinds moving up to the Rhine. The bridge head across the river is extending and one report said the First U. S. Army has crossed the 6 way road leading to the Ruhr.

Winston Churchill in the House of Commons said the war in Europe may end by summer or before.

Berlin said 2 Red armies have crossed the Oder for an attack on the capital.

More than 1000 American men have arrived in Cario who have been liberated by the army of Russia in Germany.

REDS BREAK THROUGH ON ODER 33 MILES BERLIN

The Red army has scored a major break through near Kuestrin on the Oder just 33 miles from Berlin.

Moscow early this morning said the next major move will see 3 major Soviet armies pounding their way to the German capital. The Berlin radio said the Reds had put 100 thousand troops across the Oder and have scored a break through.

In the west the Germans were facing the same sort of disaster as 70 thousand American troops had crossed the Rhine and [illegible]dily were [illegible] ing the bridg[illegible] made by Gen[illegible] er Courtney Ho[illegible] First Army in th[illegible]hine crossin[illegible].

In the past 8 days 32 thousand German troops have surrendered or have been captured. The Germans now surrender meekly when their positions are assailed. Officers are inclined to resist to the last.

The Allies were expanding their Rhine crossing with the aid of terrific air power.

Over in the Pacific American B-29 bombers have struck another major blow to the Jap homeland. This time at Osaka where a large section of the city was left burning from the attack on Wednesday. Some 300 of the super forts based in the Marianas struck Osaka.

The Japanese army is now said to be drilling for anti-landing operations based on the expectation of an early invasion of the main land.

MARCH 26 LAST DAY FOR CROP INSURANCE

Milam county farmers have until March 26, 1945, to place their 1945 crops of American Upland cotton under protection of the all-risk Federal crop insurance program, according to H. L. Atkinson, Chairman of the County AAA Committee.

Under the new insurance program, farmers will have a choice of two insurance contracts, one providing coverage up to 75 percent of the average field, and the other up to the 50 percent. The insurance provides coverage against crop losses from drouth, floods, hail, wind, frost, winter-kill, wildlife, hurricanes, insects plant disease and other hazards determined by the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation to be unavoidable.

Contracts are now being written by county AAA committeemen and other authorized agents in the county, Atkinson said. Contracts must be signed before the crop is planted, and at least 50 applications (or the one-third provision if it applies in the county) must be made before crop insurance becomes effective in the county.

The stage of the cotton crop's development will determine the maximum indemnity to be recovered in the event of loss. If a loss occurs after it's too late to replant to cotton, but prior to the first cultivation, the indemnity would be 40 percent of the maximum insured production. The land, of course, would be released for another crop. Losses occurring after the first cultivation and the end of harvest would be indemnified to the extent of 75 percent of the maximum coverage. Indemnity for losses occurring after harvest but before delivery to the gin would be 100 percent of the maximum coverage. Indemnities payable under the program may be used as collateral security for government-sponsored commodity loans.

"Crop insurance is the only means of prtecting crop investments from the innumerable hazards that go with cotton growing," Atkinson explained. "It offers assured production returns from planting to delivery at the gin. It seems to me that most farmers who need returns from their cotton crops, need crop insurance."

Only Pinheads of Blood Needed for Analysis

Some blood tests, speedy and life-saving, now can be made by chemistry under the microscope with only a pinhead of blood, and science can look forward to the day when a complete analysis of many components can be made with only one drop of blood. So precise are the tiny instruments used in this micro-chemistry that even in a pinhead-sized dot of blood they can analyze materials weighing less than one microgram—or 1/30,000,000 of an ounce.

It has long been known that the chemical composition of blood changes in disease. But in the early days of blood analysis it took as much as half a pint of blood, for example, for each duplicate sugar analysis in diabetes. Through the years methods were developed until samples as ⅔ to about 3⅓ thimblefuls of blood could be used. These delicate methods permitted analysis for materials amounting at times to more than 20 micrograms in the specimen.

With these micromethods, the demand grew until in some cases analysis was asked for as many as 30 components in a given blood specimen. If they were to be done in duplicates, such tests might have required as much as 100 to 200 cubic centimeters of blood serum or plasma, representing 300 to 600 cubic centimeters of whole blood. Taking this amount of blood was not desirable, and in most cases the determinations were not undertaken at all, even though the clinical condition warranted it.

Use Water to Flush Oil From Marginal Wells

Since 1936, more than 4,000,000 barrels of oil have been recovered as the result of the injection of about 41,000,000 barrels of water—a ratio of one barrel of oil to 9.66 barrels of water—according to the bureau's report which was prepared by Peter Grandone, petroleum engineer at Bartlesville, Okla., in cooperation with the Kansas state board of health.

The application of secondary-recovery methods is a most valuable conservation measure in that it prevents the premature abandonment of producing properties and also is one of the most promising measures for relief of the present acute shortage of crude oil.

Water-flooding—the introduction of water into formations through some wells to drive the oil toward other wells for pumping to the surface—began on a planned basis in Kansas in 1935 with the passage of a state law authorizing this method of petroleum recovery. By 1936, three initial projects had demonstrated the practicability of the method, and by November, 1942, the practice was being followed in 13 counties.

Remove Honey

As soon as the aster flow is over, which usually is around mid-October the surplus goldenrod and aster honey should be removed promptly from the bees. In many cases the aster honey may not be thoroughly ripened—that is, the honey may be thin because of the high water content. Goldenrod honey, and especially aster honey, granulate rapidly during the cool fall weather and it is important to remove the honey before it granulates in the combs.

In the case of honey in extracting supers, it should be placed in a warm room (85 degrees F.) several hours; it will then extract more easily from the combs. Another word of caution is not amiss in urging beekeepers not to leave such fall honey in storage tanks too long. When the honey has settled in the tanks it should be run out in 60-pound cans. When fall honey starts to granulate in tanks it frequently will granulate solid in three to seven days.

Soap Making

Soaps are usually made by heating or thoroughly emulsifying fats or oils with certain quantities of lye. Glycerin is also formed in the process and may be removed or left in the soap. On account of its value for other purposes it is usually not found in laundry and other less expensive soaps, but is taken out along with natural impurities by dissolving the mixture in water and "salting out." For this, large quantities of common salt are added, which cause the soap to fall out of the solution while the bulk of the impurities, the glycerin, and the salt remain dissolved. It is impracticable, if not impossible, to remove all of these various materials, and therefore soaps always contain at least traces of impurities and often more or less salt.

Onion Storage

For satisfactory home storage over a period of several months, select fully dried onions. Store in a dry place, as humidity may cause onions to rot. Keep at temperatures as near to freezing as possible, but do not let them freeze. Onions store satisfactorily at from 32 to 55 degrees; they may tend to sprout if storage space is too warm. Provide free circulation of air. Never pack closely in a closed container. Spreading-out helps. The pantry or attic is usually superior to the cellar for storing, as cellars are often damp. Spreading on a screen placed overhead in the garage, on the back porch and in like places is suggested if temperatures remain above freezing.

Sgt. Edwin Kuzel Fighting on Iwo Jima in the Pacific

Sgt. Edwin Kuzel, United States Marines, is fighting on Iwo Jima in the brilliant campaign the Marines are concluding against the Japs.

Sgt. Kuzel is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Kuzel of Buckholts. He is a volunteer and has been in the service for two years. He wrote his parents recently from Iwo and at that time he was making good progress.

RHINE BRIDGHEAD IS NOW 6 MILES DEEP

Under an umbrella of air protecton the units of General Hodges First Army were expanding their bridgehead across the Rhine river in Germany.

At noon Tuesday the bridgehead was 6 miles deep and 11 miles long. Our forces are meeting heavy opposition.

These developments came with reports of increasing unrest in Germany. A Swiss report, usually not reliable says that General Runstedt has been wounded and is not now in command of the German armies on the western front. There was evidence that unrest was growing in Germany and conditions were worsening by the hour.

The Reds are expanding their conquests and are extending them. Kuestrin has been reduced to rubble.

A few Japs remain alive on Iwo Jima while the Marines continue to mop up, the end of their heroic sacrificial campaign in sight on the island.

Americans are gaining rapidly in Mindanao in the phillippines.

Sgt. C. B. Harker Of Maysfield Joins With U. S. Liberator Crew

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE LIBERATOR STATION, ENGLAND:—Sergeant C. B. Harber of Maysfield, recently joined Colonel Albert J. Shower's 467th Bomb Group to fly and fight as an aerial gunner on one of the B-24 liberator bombers of this group.

After completing an operational training course, Sgt. Harber will be assigned to fly on bombing missions to Germany and enemy-occupied Europe.

Helping him on his coming missions will be the experience this Eighth Air Force group has gained from dispatching its heavy bombers on more than 165 bombing attacks against enemy targets during the past ten months.

The 467th Bomb Group is part of Major General William E. Kepner's Second Air Division.

Sgt. Harber is the son of Mrs. Price P. Harber of Maysfield, Texas, and prior to entering the service he was a farmer near Maysfield. He is a graduate of C. H. Yoe High School. He joined the Army Sept. 23, 1938, and immediately before his assignment to combat duty in the European Theatre of Operations in Jan. 1945, he was stationed at Westover Field, Mass.

Bryan District Conference of the Methodist church will meet in Cameron, Monday, April 16th and a large gathering is expected at this time.

Mrs. Alfred Price has returned to her home after being a patient in Newton Memorial Hospitlal for a week.

Father Receives Air Medal Awarded To Son

BRYAN FIELD, BRYAN, Feb. 28.—Members of the family of Sgt. Aleck Lazek, now a prisoner of war in Austria, were present from Bryan and Cameron Tuesday, where the hero's father was presented the Air Medal on his behalf.

The father, Fred F. Lazek, 305 North Orchard St., Cameron, accepted the medal, in a special retreat ceremony commanded by Major Willard J. Foley, director of training of the Instrument Trainer Instructors' Course (Link instructors) in the absence of Col. Joseph B. Duckworth and Lt. Col. Christian B. Walk, Jr.

Also present for the ceremony were two sisters and a brother-in-law from Bryan. They are Mrs. Victor Sustek, whose husband is a sergenat with an AAF mobile signal unit on Leyte, and Sgt. and Mrs. Norman Stuart, now of Fort Bliss, El Paso, who are now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart, Sr., 911 South Coulter Drive, Bryan. Mrs. Sustek is the former Edna Lazek and Mrs. Stuart is the former Mollie Lazek of Cameron.

Sgt. Lazek, formerly of Cameron, was a gunner on a heavy bomber of the Eigth Air Force based in England before he was captured following a raid last April 29, when his bomber was shot down over German occupied territory.

"For exceptionally meritorious achievement while participating in several bomber combat missions over enemy occupied continental Europe," stated the citiation for Sgt. Lazek which was read by Maj. Robroy C. Carroll, Bryan Field adjutant. "The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this enlisted man upon these occasions reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces of United States."

CHAMBER COMMERCE WILL MEET TO-NIGHT

The Directors of the Chamber of Commerce were scheduled to meet Tuesday night to elect officers for for the new year of 1945-46.

Directors for the organization were chosen two weeks ago by a ballot circulated among members.

J. M. Boehner, who has served as President for the past year will be succeeded by the choice of the Directors. The usual process is a nominating committee and the Directors in every case have adopted the nominating report.

The choice of the position of President was awaited with interest. It was agreed the Chamber faces many problems and responsibilities in the future due to need for commercial shaping of the community.

The post war world will demand many modern civic activities and the town that lags will be left in the wake of decay.

Violating Traffic Rules During Fires Brings New Protest

Violation of traffic rules during fires and fire alarms, long a source of trouble here, has brought what appears to be a final protest before summary action when City Marshal Dan Lunsford issued a warning with teeth in it Wednesday and is being joined by Volunteer Firemen.

In the past years periodic warnings have been issued and so far as known little has been done about it. The Marshal says he will positively act and after notice given for publication under his name and declares that he has the backing of Firemen and that something will now be done.

Disregard of these warings in the past and the fact that an ordiance makes it a penalty under the law, seems an incredible contempt for the warning of city officers.

"I will prosecute anyone who violates this regulation," said the Marshal.

'The Firemen have made complaint and if the people do not respect this warning I will positively arrest and file charges against anyone who drives an automobile during fire alarms and fails to go to the curb and park or who races to fires in any manner to interfere with the Firemen."

"Some of our most prominent citizens cut corners and interfere with Firemen without ever thinking of the danger to others.

"In addition to this warning that I will file charges in City Court againt all who fail to comply with traffic rules during fires and fire alarms, double parking in the streets must be stopped and all big trucks must be parked on the court house block or on some location off the public streets."

"Till We Meet" Powerful, Timely

Seldom has a picture been presented at a time when audiences everywhere are deeply and personally concerned with its basic theme. Paramount's "Till We Meet Again" is the story of an American officer in France whose life is saved by a member of the fomous Maquis, a beautiful French girl.

With American soldiers fighting beside the Free French and aided by the underground network of the F. F. I., this magnificently dramatic story which arrives Thurdsay at the Cameron Theatre, stars Ray Milland and beautiful Barbra Britton.

As the eyes of the world are focused on France and her desperate fight for freedom, the spirit behind, these historically momentous days is graphically shown in "Till We Meet Again," with portrayals of French Underground workers in their days of greatest sacrifice and peril.

Under the delicate direction of Frank Borzage, a beautiful wisp of a romance is worked into the story as the little French girl who lived in a world without men, joins the handsome strange American and, through days and nights of danger and horror, lives by his side in the guise of his peasant wife.

How Sober Hoskins Got His Name

Everybody kids Sober Hoskins about his name. Of course, they allow that it's appropriate. Sober never drinks anything stronger than a glass of beer. And a harder worker in the fields there never was.

"Shucks," says Sober's dad. "We named Sober 'Sober' just because he looked that way when he was born. Like we called his sister 'Gay,' and his other sister 'Prissy.' And it's had its effect on all of 'em," he adds with spirit. (Prissy is the old maid in the Hoskins family.)

From where I sit, there may be something in what Sober's dad says. Naming children after virtues is a fine old American custom. Look at the names of our pioneers and pilgrims: Faith, Pious, Charity, Hope, Ernest.

Maybe we should use such names more often. And one I'd like to add is "Tolerance." If we all had Tolerance for a middle name, and lived up to it, we'd have a better, happier world.
